

GRAYCELL
TECHNOLOGIES

www.graycelltech.com

Med School For Parents Website

Background

The client wanted to create a knowledge platform for parents. The Med School For Parents website was targeted to provide accurate information related to children's health. The idea was to help the parents in treating their children through our reliable resources and raise children healthy.

Solution

The GCT team built the Med School For Parents website to provide reliable resources to the parents so that they can find accurate information and best possible advice or tips from a wide range of parenting and health topics. This website helps in treating children and prevents illness and injury. It also provides the latest news related to children's health, and the information is validated based on research and evidence.

Med School For Parents website has the following features:

1. Create login
2. Get information related to general topics like parenting and children's health.
3. Get the latest news related to children's health.
4. Ask queries related to your child.
5. Get personalized answers for your queries.